SUBJECTS

ALOPECIA
Noninflammatory alopecia in dogs; June, pp 518-534.

AMYLOIDOSIS
Managing renal amyloidosis in dogs and cats; April, pp 320-333.

ANEMIA
A diagnostic approach to anemic patients; May, pp 420-430.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Sudden deterioration in a dog receiving immunosuppressive therapy; July, pp 574-581.

ANESTHESIA
Choosing the best inhalant anesthetic for small-animal practice; August, pp 664-674.

Anesthetic management for cesarean section in bitches; August, pp 675-696.

ASPERGILLOSIS
Aspergillosis: An overview in dogs and cats; July, pp 602-618.

AVIAN SPECIES
Recognizing and managing Chlamydophila psittaci infection in companion avian species; September, pp 746-757.

BEHAVIOR
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

CARDIOPULMONARY DISEASE
Is there a better way to administer heartworm adulticidal therapy? April, pp 310-317.

CEREBROSPINAL FLUID
Skills Laboratory, Part 1: How to obtain a CSF sample in dogs and cats; June, pp 472-486.

Skills Laboratory, Part 2: CSF sample handling and examination; June, pp 488-498.

Skills Laboratory, Part 3: Interpreting the results of CSF analysis in dogs and cats; June, pp 499-506.

CESAREAN SECTION
Anesthetic management for cesarean section in bitches; August, pp 675-696.

CHLAMYDOPHILA PSITTACI
Recognizing and managing Chlamydophila psittaci infection in companion avian species; September, pp 746-757.

CLIENT INFORMATION SHEETS
When your pet doesn't urinate normally; January, p 74.

Caring for your pet's teeth and gums; February, p 172.

CLINICAL EXPOSURES
A hyperplastic endometrial polyp and vascular thrombosis in a hedgehog; April, pp 298-303.

COGNITIVE DECLINE
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

CONSUMER REPORTS
Editors' Guest: Dear Consumer Reports; July, p 552.

Veterinary Medicine
Dental Corner: Illustrate the importance of dental care to clients
An alternative to amputation for appendicular osteosarcoma
DENTISTRY
Inside and Out

CRITICAL CARE
Clinic and staff readiness: The key to successful outcomes in emergency care; September, pp 760-776. Correction: November, p 914.

A general approach to emergency patients; September, pp 777-786.

A traumatic emergency: Handling patients with head injuries; September, pp 788-799.

Supplemental oxygen therapy in critically ill or injured patients; November, pp 935-953.

Rapid sequence intubation and surgical intervention in respiratory emergencies; November, pp 954-968.

CUTEREBRA* SPECIES
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Complications from Cuterebra species larva removal; November, pp 928-933.

D-DIMER
Current principles and applications of D-dimer analysis in small-animal practice; March, pp 224-234.

DENTAL CORNER
Using dental photographs in client education; February, pp 103-112.

DENTISTRY
Dental equipment: Using the right tools to provide the best care for your patients; February, pp 127-144.

Dental prophylaxis: Examination, cleaning, and home care; February, pp 148-159.

Periodontal disease: More than just a dirty mouth; February, pp 161-170.

DERMATOLOGY
Noninflammatory alopecia in dogs; June, pp 518-534.

Important factors in the pathogenesis of feline dermatophytosis; October, pp 845-858.

Practical diagnostic testing for dermatophytosis in cats; October, pp 859-876.

Feline dermatophytosis: Topical and systemic treatment recommendations; October, pp 877-885.

Monitoring treatment and preventing reinfection in cats with dermatophytosis; October, pp 886-891.

DERMATOLOGY CHALLENGE
Chronic, recurrent dermatophytosis in a Persian cat; March, pp 216-220.

DERMATOPHYTOSIS
Important factors in the pathogenesis of feline dermatophytosis; October, pp 845-858.

Practical diagnostic testing for dermatophytosis in cats; October, pp 859-876.

Feline dermatophytosis: Topical and systemic treatment recommendations; October, pp 877-885.

Monitoring treatment and preventing reinfection in cats with dermatophytosis; October, pp 886-891.

DIABETES MELLITUS
Insulin and other therapies for diabetes mellitus; April, pp 334-348.

Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 1: Blood glucose curves; December, pp 1025-1032.

Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 2: Fructosamine and glycosylated hemoglobin concentrations; December, pp 1034-1037.

SUBJECTS continued

DIAGNOSTIC PROCEDURES
Dental prophylaxis: Examination, cleaning, and home care; February, pp 148-159.

Current principles and applications of D-dimer analysis in small-animal practice; March, pp 224-234.

Diagnosing infectious and inflammatory diseases of the upper respiratory tract; March, pp 236-244.

A diagnostic approach to anemic patients; May, pp 420-430.

Skills Laboratory, Part 1: How to obtain a CSF sample in dogs and cats; June, pp 472-486.

Skills Laboratory, Part 2: CSF sample handling and examination; June, pp 488-498.

Skills Laboratory, Part 3: Interpreting the results of CSF analysis in dogs and cats; June, pp 499-506.

Obstetrical monitoring in dogs; June, pp 508-517.

Practical diagnostic testing for dermatophytosis in cats; October, pp 859-876.

Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 1: Blood glucose curves; December, pp 1025-1032.

Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 2: Fructosamine and glycosylated hemoglobin concentrations; December, pp 1034-1037.

DIALYSIS
Advanced renal therapies: Options when standard treatments are not enough; December, pp 999-1008.

EHRLICHIOSIS
Diagnosing and treating ehrlichiosis in dogs and cats; July, pp 595-601.

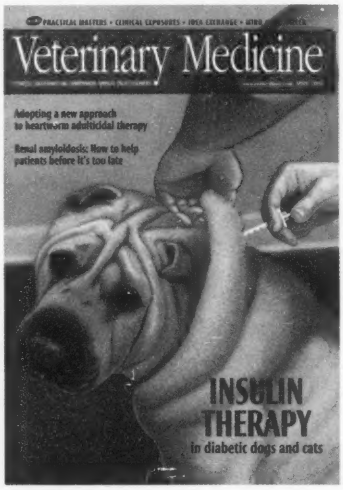
EMERGENCY MEDICINE
Clinic and staff readiness: The key to successful outcomes in emergency care; September, pp 760-776. Correction: November, p 914.

A general approach to emergency patients; September, pp 777-786.

A traumatic emergency: Handling patients with head injuries; September, pp 788-799.

Supplemental oxygen therapy in critically ill or injured patients; November, pp 935-953.

Rapid sequence intubation and surgical intervention in respiratory emergencies; November, pp 954-968.



Veterinary Medicine
Adopting a new approach to heartworm adulticidal therapy
Renal amyloidosis: How to help patients before it's too late
INSULIN THERAPY
in diabetic dogs and cats

ENDOCRINOLOGY
Insulin and other therapies for diabetes mellitus; April, pp 334-348.

Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 1: Blood glucose curves; December, pp 1025-1032.

Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 2: Fructosamine and glycosylated hemoglobin concentrations; December, pp 1034-1037.

ENDOSCOPY BRIEF
Transitional cell carcinoma; February, p 96.

Resolution of chylothorax in a cat; October, pp 832-833.

EXOTIC-ANIMAL PUZZLER
A ferret with a midventral cervical mass; May, pp 380-383.

FIBROLEIOMYOMA
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: A large, cystic abdominal mass in an intact female dog; May, pp 389-394.

FRUCTOSAMINE
Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 2: Fructosamine and glycosylated hemoglobin concentrations; December, pp 1034-1037.

FUNGAL DISEASE
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Sudden deterioration in a dog receiving immunosuppressive therapy; July, pp 574-581.

Aspergillosis: An overview in dogs and cats; July, pp 602-618.

Important factors in the pathogenesis of feline dermatophytosis; October, pp 845-858.

Practical diagnostic testing for dermatophytosis in cats; October, pp 859-876.

Feline dermatophytosis: Topical and systemic treatment recommendations; October, pp 877-885.

Monitoring treatment and preventing reinfection in cats with dermatophytosis; October, pp 886-891.

GEOTRICHUM* SPECIES
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Sudden deterioration in a dog receiving immunosuppressive therapy; July, pp 574-581.

GLUCOSE CURVE
Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 1: Blood glucose curves; December, pp 1025-1032.

GLYCOSYLATED HEMOGLOBIN
Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 2: Fructosamine and glycosylated hemoglobin concentrations; December, pp 1034-1037.

HALOTHANE
Choosing the best inhalant anesthetic for small-animal practice; August, pp 664-674.

HEAD TRAUMA
A traumatic emergency: Handling patients with head injuries; September, pp 788-799.

HEARTWORM DISEASE
Is there a better way to administer heartworm adulticidal therapy? April, pp 310-317.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Recurrent cervical pain and ataxia in a Chihuahua; August, pp 656-662.

HYPOGLYCEMIC AGENTS
Insulin and other therapies for diabetes mellitus; April, pp 334-348.

IMMUNOSUPPRESSIVE THERAPY
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Sudden deterioration in a dog receiving immunosuppressive therapy; July, pp 574-581.

INCONTINENCE
Treating urinary incontinence; January, pp 58-65.

INFECTIOUS DISEASE
Diagnosing infectious and inflammatory diseases of the upper respiratory tract; March, pp 236-244.

Managing infectious and inflammatory upper airway diseases in dogs; March, pp 245-253.

Managing infectious and inflammatory upper airway diseases in cats; March, pp 255-264.

Is there a better way to administer heartworm adulticidal therapy? April, pp 310-317.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Sudden deterioration in a dog receiving immunosuppressive therapy; July, pp 574-581.

Managing leptospirosis in dogs; July, pp 586-594.

Diagnosing and treating ehrlichiosis in dogs and cats; July, pp 595-601.

Aspergillosis: An overview in dogs and cats; July, pp 602-618.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Recurrent cervical pain and ataxia in a Chihuahua; August, pp 656-662.

Important factors in the pathogenesis of feline dermatophytosis; October, pp 845-858.

Practical diagnostic testing for dermatophytosis in cats; October, pp 859-876.

Feline dermatophytosis: Topical and systemic treatment recommendations; October, pp 877-885.

Monitoring treatment and preventing reinfection in cats with dermatophytosis; October, pp 886-891.

INSULIN
Insulin and other therapies for diabetes mellitus; April, pp 334-348.

INTERVERTEBRAL DISK DISEASE
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Recurrent cervical pain and ataxia in a Chihuahua; August, pp 656-662.

INTUBATION
Rapid sequence intubation and surgical intervention in respiratory emergencies; November, pp 954-968.

ISOFLURANE
Choosing the best inhalant anesthetic for small-animal practice; August, pp 664-674.

KIDNEYS
Managing renal amyloidosis in dogs and cats; April, pp 320-333.

Managing leptospirosis in dogs; July, pp 586-594.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Complications from Cuterebra species larva removal; November, pp 928-933.

Advanced renal therapies: Options when standard treatments are not enough; December, pp 999-1008.

LEIOMYOSARCOMA
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Persistent urinary problems in a young golden retriever; October, pp 839-842.

LEPTOSPIROSIS
Managing leptospirosis in dogs; July, pp 586-594.

LETTERS
Parrot's diet and drug therapy questioned (Giddings, R.F.); response: (Gionfriddo, J.R.); April, pp 288-293.

Addressing the feral cat problem (Novak, B.; Owen, M.; Feaga, W.P.); May, pp 372-373.

Diabetes and diet (Marshall, D.H.); response: (Schulman, R.L.); June, pp 455-456.

Additional heartworm treatment recommendations (Doiron, D.); June, p 456.

Defining unpleasant odor (Rhody, J.L.); June, p 456.

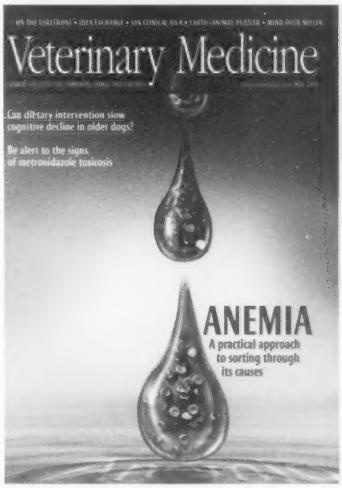
A case for learning (Kraemer, R.J.); November, pp 914-916.



Veterinary Medicine
Can dietary intervention slow cognitive decline in older dogs?
Be alert to the signs of metronidazole toxicosis
ANEMIA
A practical approach to sorting through its causes

LUNG
Discovering and eliminating primary lung tumors in dogs and cats; December, pp 1012-1024.

MELARSOMINE
Is there a better way to administer heartworm adulticidal therapy? April, pp 310-317.

METRONIDAZOLE
Recognizing metronidazole toxicosis in dogs; May, pp 410-418.

MICROSPORUM CANIS
Important factors in the pathogenesis of feline dermatophytosis; October, pp 845-858.

Practical diagnostic testing for dermatophytosis in cats; October, pp 859-876.

Feline dermatophytosis: Topical and systemic treatment recommendations; October, pp 877-885.

Monitoring treatment and preventing reinfection in cats with dermatophytosis; October, pp 886-891.

MICTURITION
A diagnostic approach to micturition disorders; January, pp 49-57.

Treating urinary incontinence; January, pp 58-65.

Medical treatment of voiding dysfunction in dogs and cats; January, pp 67-73.

MIND OVER MILLER
Rosie; January, p 82.

Good, old-fashioned mail; February, p 182.

Electronic rage; March, p 274.

Considerate vs. inconsiderate; April, p 358.

European impressions; May, pp 441-442.

A story straight out of the movies; June, p 542.

Dr. Miller bites back; July, p 626.

Waning membership signals declining camaraderie; August, p 718.

Another dirty word? September, p 810.

A livestock tour of Switzerland; October, pp 901-902.

Occupation recollections; November, p 978.

The insidious foxtail; December, p 1054.

NEOPLASIA
Limb-sparing surgery for appendicular osteosarcoma in dogs; February, pp 119-124.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: A large, cystic abdominal mass in an intact female dog; May, pp 389-394.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Persistent urinary problems in a young golden retriever; October, pp 839-842.

SUBJECTS continued

Discovering and eliminating primary lung tumors in dogs and cats; December, pp 1012-1024.

NEUROLOGY
Recognizing metronidazole toxicosis in dogs; May, pp 410-418.

Skills Laboratory, Part 1: How to obtain a CSF sample in dogs and cats; June, pp 472-486.

Skills Laboratory, Part 2: CSF sample handling and examination; June, pp 488-498.

Skills Laboratory, Part 3: Interpreting the results of CSF analysis in dogs and cats; June, pp 499-506.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Recurrent cervical pain and ataxia in a Chihuahua; August, pp 656-662.

NEW GRADUATE
Editors' Guest: Tales from a new graduate; April, p 284.

NUTRITION
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

OBSTETRICAL MONITORING
Obstetrical monitoring in dogs; June, pp 508-517.

ON THE FOREFRONT
Mapping genes that cause muscular and neurologic disorders in horses and dogs; March, pp 196-204.

New cancer center takes aim at the deadly disease; May, pp 374-378.

Rigid endoscopy in small and exotic animals; August, pp 640-643.

New Canadian facility offers MRI and radiation therapy under one roof; November, pp 917-920.

ONCOLOGY BRIEF
Chemotherapy extravasation; January, pp 32-34.

OPHTHALMOLOGY CHALLENGE
A parrot with unilateral blepharitis; January, pp 12-26. Correction: April, p 288.

An English bulldog with a red, squinting eye; July, pp 556-566.

ORTHOPEDICS
Managing a unilateral TMJ subluxation in a dog; January, pp 36-45.

Limb-sparing surgery for appendicular osteosarcoma in dogs; February, pp 119-124.

OXYGEN
Supplemental oxygen therapy in critically ill or injured patients; November, pp 935-953.

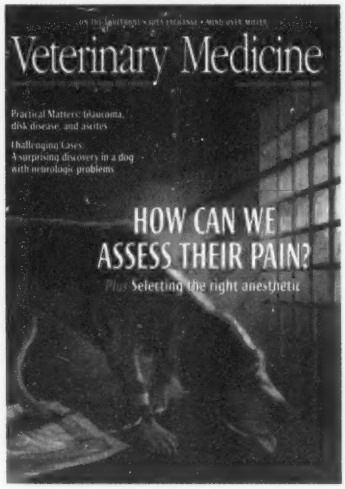
PAIN ASSESSMENT
How do we know if they hurt? Pain assessment in small animals; August, pp 700-709.

PARASITES
Is there a better way to administer heartworm adulticidal therapy? April, pp 310-317.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Recurrent cervical pain and ataxia in a Chihuahua; August, pp 656-662.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Complications from Cuterebra species larva removal; November, pp 928-933.

PERIODONTAL DISEASE
Periodontal disease: More than just a dirty mouth; February, pp 161-170.



Veterinary Medicine
Practical Matters: Glaucoma, disk disease, and ascites
Challenging Cases: A surprising discovery in a dog with neurologic problems
HOW CAN WE ASSESS THEIR PAIN?
Plus Selecting the right anesthetic

PRACTICAL MATTERS
Evaluate the cause of nasal discharge before therapy; April, p 294.

The link between bacteria and struvite urolithiasis in dogs; April, p 294.

Guidelines for inducing emesis; April, p 294.

Avoiding pitfalls in diagnosing hyperadrenocorticism; April, p 296.

Atropine: Not the universal antidote; April, p 296.

Diagnosing intervertebral disk herniation; April, p 296.

Thyroid evaluation and behavior problems; April, p 297.

Distinguishing between early glaucoma and conjunctivitis; August, p 647.

Thoracolumbar intervertebral disk disease—to the cage or to the OR? August, pp 648-650.

Identifying cardiogenic ascites; August, p 650.

The value of esophagostomy tubes in anorectic patients; November, p 925.

Interpreting high-dose dexamethasone suppression tests; November, p 925.

Early diagnosis and referral are key to successful cataract management; November, p 926.

Don't be caught short when performing exploratory surgery; November, p 926.

PROPHYLAXIS
Dental prophylaxis: Examination, cleaning, and home care; February, pp 148-159.

PSITTACOSIS
Recognizing and managing Chlamydophila psittaci infection in companion avian species; September, pp 746-757.

RENAL FAILURE
Managing renal amyloidosis in dogs and cats; April, pp 320-333.

Managing leptospirosis in dogs; July, pp 586-594.

Advanced renal therapies: Options when standard treatments are not enough; December, pp 999-1008.

REPRODUCTION
Obstetrical monitoring in dogs; June, pp 508-517.

Anesthetic management for cesarean section in bitches; August, pp 675-696.

REPRODUCTIVE TRACT
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: A large, cystic abdominal mass in an intact female dog; May, pp 389-394.

RESEARCH UPDATES
Determining the prognosis after excising cutaneous mast cell tumors; February, p 98.

The clinicopathologic characteristics of polyarthritis in dogs; February, p 98.

What affects the prognosis in dogs with immune-mediated hemolytic anemia? February, p 100.

Breed variations in chronic canine otitis externa; February, p 100.

Examining extrahepatic biliary obstruction in cats; February, p 102.

Evaluating traumatic body wall hernias in dogs and cats; June, p 461.

Diagnosing intussusception by using ultrasound; June, p 461.

Which abnormalities accompany coccidioidomycosis in dogs? June, pp 462-464.

How storage affects urine samples; June, p 462.

Risk factors for perianesthetic morbidity in cats; June, p 464.

Ultrasonographic diagnosis of diaphragmatic rupture; October, p 824.

Ultrasonographic findings in feline pancreatic necrosis; October, p 824.

Evaluating the integrity of veterinary surgical gloves; October, p 826.

Diagnosis and prognosis for portosystemic shunts; October, pp 826-828.

How accurate is cytologic examination? October, p 830.

RESPIRATORY SYSTEM
Diagnosing infectious and inflammatory diseases of the upper respiratory tract; March, pp 236-244.

Managing infectious and inflammatory upper airway diseases in dogs; March, pp 245-253.

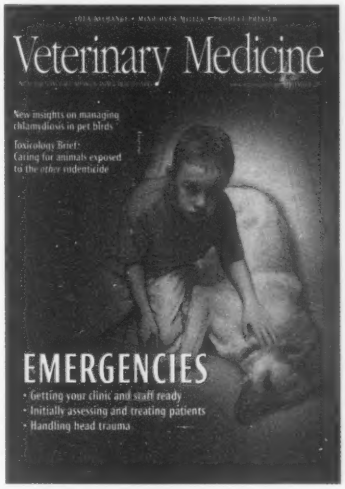
Managing infectious and inflammatory upper airway diseases in cats; March, pp 255-264.

Supplemental oxygen therapy in critically ill or injured patients; November, pp 935-953.

Rapid sequence intubation and surgical intervention in respiratory emergencies; November, pp 954-968.

Discovering and eliminating primary lung tumors in dogs and cats; December, pp 1012-1024.

SEVOFLURANE
Choosing the best inhalant anesthetic for small-animal practice; August, pp 664-674.



Veterinary Medicine
New insights on managing chlamydiosis in pet birds
Toxicology Brief: Caring for animals exposed to the other rodenticide
EMERGENCIES
• Getting your clinic and staff ready
• Initially assessing and treating patients
• Handling head trauma

SKILLS LABORATORY
How to obtain a CSF sample in dogs and cats; June, pp 472-486.

CSF sample handling and examination; June, pp 488-498.

Interpreting the results of CSF analysis in dogs and cats; June, pp 499-506.

SURGERY
Managing a unilateral TMJ subluxation in a dog; January, pp 36-45.

Limb-sparing surgery for appendicular osteosarcoma in dogs; February, pp 119-124.

Rapid sequence intubation and surgical intervention in respiratory emergencies; November, pp 954-968.

TEMPOROMANDIBULAR JOINT
Managing a unilateral TMJ subluxation in a dog; January, pp 36-45.

THORACOSTOMY
Rapid sequence intubation and surgical intervention in respiratory emergencies; November, pp 954-968.

THROMBOSIS
Current principles and applications of D-dimer analysis in small-animal practice; March, pp 224-234.

TICK-BORNE DISEASE
Diagnosing and treating ehrlichiosis in dogs and cats; July, pp 595-601.

TOXICOLOGY
Recognizing metronidazole toxicosis in dogs; May, pp 410-418.

TOXICOLOGY BRIEF
Metaldehyde toxicosis; March, pp 213-215.

Disulfoton: A deadly threat in pets; June, pp 466-469.

Bromethalin: The other rodenticide; September, pp 732-736.

Paintball toxicosis in dogs; December, pp 995-998.

TRACHEOSTOMY
Rapid sequence intubation and surgical intervention in respiratory emergencies; November, pp 954-968.

TRANSPLANTATION
Advanced renal therapies: Options when standard treatments are not enough; December, pp 999-1008.

URINARY TRACT
A diagnostic approach to micturition disorders; January, pp 49-57.

Treating urinary incontinence; January, pp 58-65.

Medical treatment of voiding dysfunction in dogs and cats; January, pp 67-73.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Persistent urinary problems in a young golden retriever; October, pp 839-842.

VIN CLINICAL Q&A
Nucleated RBCs point to possible Cushing's disease; May, p 379.

Cushing's disease or not? July, pp 572-573.

VOIDING DYSFUNCTION
Medical treatment of voiding dysfunction in dogs and cats; January, pp 67-73.

ZOONOTIC DISEASE
Managing leptospirosis in dogs; July, pp 586-594.

Recognizing and managing Chlamydophila psittaci infection in companion avian species; September, pp 746-757.

Important factors in the pathogenesis of feline dermatophytosis; October, pp 845-858.

Practical diagnostic testing for dermatophytosis in cats; October, pp 859-876.

Feline dermatophytosis: Topical and systemic treatment recommendations; October, pp 877-885.

AUTHORS

A

Allen, Timothy A.
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

Allison, Neil
A hyperplastic endometrial polyp and vascular thrombosis in a hedgehog; April, pp 298-303.

Anderson, Kari L.
Managing a unilateral TMJ subluxation in a dog; January, pp 36-45.

Armstrong, P. Jane
Mapping genes that cause muscular and neurologic disorders in horses and dogs; March, pp 196-204.

Atkins, Clarke
Is there a better way to administer heartworm adulticidal therapy? April, pp 310-317.

Practical Matters: Identifying cardiogenic ascites; August, p 650.

B

Bagley, Rodney S.
Skills Laboratory, Part 1: How to obtain a CSF sample in dogs and cats; June, pp 472-486.

Skills Laboratory, Part 2: CSF sample handling and examination; June, pp 488-498.

Skills Laboratory, Part 3: Interpreting the results of CSF analysis in dogs and cats; June, pp 499-506.

Bartges, Joseph W.
Practical Matters: The link between bacteria and struvite urolithiasis in dogs; April, p 294.

Behrend, Ellen N.
Cushing's disease or not? July, pp 572-573.

Practical Matters: Interpreting high-dose dexamethasone suppression tests; November, p 925.

Bellows, Jan
Using dental photographs in client education; February, pp 103-112.

Bilbrey, Stephen
Limb-sparing surgery for appendicular osteosarcoma in dogs; February, pp 119-124.

Bohn, Andrea A.
Skills Laboratory, Part 2: CSF sample handling and examination; June, pp 488-498.

Skills Laboratory, Part 3: Interpreting the results of CSF analysis in dogs and cats; June, pp 499-506.

Bowersox, Thomas
Managing a unilateral TMJ subluxation in a dog; January, pp 36-45.

Brogdon, J. Daniel
Practical Matters: Early diagnosis and referral are key to successful cataract management; November, p 926.

C

Carpenter, James W.
A ferret with a midventral cervical mass; May, pp 380-383.

Carr, Anthony
Managing leptospirosis in dogs; July, pp 586-594.

Diagnosing and treating ehrlichiosis in dogs and cats; July, pp 595-601.

Cotter, Susan M.
A diagnostic approach to anemic patients; May, pp 420-430.

Crow, Steven E.
Discovering and eliminating primary lung tumors in dogs and cats; December, pp 1012-1024.

Crowe Jr., Dennis T. (Tim)
Clinic and staff readiness: The key to successful outcomes in emergency care; September, pp 760-776. Correction: November, p 914.

A general approach to emergency patients; September, pp 777-786.

Supplemental oxygen therapy in critically ill or injured patients; November, pp 935-953.

Rapid sequence intubation and surgical intervention in respiratory emergencies; November, pp 954-968.

D

Davidson, Autumn
Obstetrical monitoring in dogs; June, pp 508-517.

Davidson, Ellen B.
Practical Matters: Thoracolumbar intervertebral disk disease—to the cage or to the OR? August, pp 648-650.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Recurrent cervical pain and ataxia in a Chihuahua; August, pp 656-662.

Degner, Daniel A.
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: A large, cystic abdominal mass in an intact female dog; May, pp 389-394.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Persistent urinary problems in a young golden retriever; October, pp 839-842.

Dodd, Chadwick E.
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

Dolder, Linda K.
Metaldehyde toxicosis; March, pp 213-215.

Donaldson, Caroline W.
Paintball toxicosis in dogs; December, pp 995-998.

Dunayer, Eric
Bromethalin: The other rodenticide; September, pp 732-736.

Dunphy, Elizabeth D.
A traumatic emergency: Handling patients with head injuries; September, pp 788-799.

E

Elwick, Kathleen E.
Diagnosing infectious and inflammatory diseases of the upper respiratory tract; March, pp 236-244.

Managing infectious and inflammatory upper airway diseases in dogs; March, pp 245-253.

Managing infectious and inflammatory upper airway diseases in cats; March, pp 255-264.

Evans, Jason
Managing a unilateral TMJ subluxation in a dog; January, pp 36-45.

F

Finnegan, Mitchell V.
A ferret with a midventral cervical mass; May, pp 380-383.

Fischer, Julie R.
Medical treatment of voiding dysfunction in dogs and cats; January, pp 67-73.

Forrester, S. Dru
Practical Matters: Evaluate the cause of nasal discharge before therapy; April, p 294.

Fritsch, Dale A.
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

G

Gallant, Esther M.
Mapping genes that cause muscular and neurologic disorders in horses and dogs; March, pp 196-204.

Gassel, Adam
Limb-sparing surgery for appendicular osteosarcoma in dogs; February, pp 119-124.

Gillette, Edward L.
New cancer center takes aim at the deadly disease; May, pp 374-378.

Gionfriddo, Juliet R.
A parrot with unilateral blepharitis; January, pp 12-26. Correction: April, p 288.

An English bulldog with a red, squinting eye; July, pp 556-566.

Practical Matters: Distinguishing between early glaucoma and conjunctivitis; August, p 647.

Goett, Scott D.
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: A large, cystic abdominal mass in an intact female dog; May, pp 389-394.

Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Persistent urinary problems in a young golden retriever; October, pp 839-842.

Gordon, Peter N.
A traumatic emergency: Handling patients with head injuries; September, pp 788-799.

Grahn, Bruce H.
New Canadian facility offers MRI and radiation therapy under one roof; November, pp 917-920.

Gulikers, Keven P.
Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 1: Blood glucose curves; December, pp 1025-1032.

Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 2: Fructosamine and glycosylated hemoglobin concentrations; December, pp 1034-1037.

H

Hahn, Kevin A.
Chemotherapy extravasation; January, pp 32-34.

Harari, Joseph
Practical Matters: Diagnosing intervertebral disk herniation; April, p 296.

Research Updates:
Determining the prognosis after excising cutaneous mast cell tumors; February, p 98.

The clinicopathologic characteristics of polyarthritis in dogs; February, p 98.

What affects the prognosis in dogs with immune-mediated hemolytic anemia? February, p 100.

Breed variations in chronic canine otitis externa; February, p 100.

Examining extrahepatic biliary obstruction in cats; February, p 102.

Evaluating traumatic body wall hernias in dogs and cats; June, p 461.

Diagnosing intussusception by using ultrasound; June, p 461.

Which abnormalities accompany coccidioidomycosis in dogs? June, pp 462-464.

How storage affects urine samples; June, p 462.

Risk factors for perianesthetic morbidity in cats; June, p 464.

Ultrasonographic diagnosis of diaphragmatic rupture; October, p 824.

Ultrasonographic findings in feline pancreatic necrosis; October, p 824.

Evaluating the integrity of veterinary surgical gloves; October, p 826.

Diagnosis and prognosis for portosystemic shunts; October, pp 826-828.

How accurate is cytologic examination? October, p 830.

Harkin, Kenneth R.
Aspergillosis: An overview in dogs and cats; July, pp 602-618.

Healey, Tiffany S.
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Recurrent cervical pain and ataxia in a Chihuahua; August, pp 656-662.

Hensel, Patrick
Chronic, recurrent dermatophytosis in a Persian cat; March, pp 216-220.

Hernandez-Divers, Stephen J.
Rigid endoscopy in small and exotic animals; August, pp 640-643.

Heseltine, Johanna
Managing leptospirosis in dogs; July, pp 586-594.

Diagnosing and treating ehrlichiosis in dogs and cats; July, pp 595-601.

Hoover, John P.
Diagnosing infectious and inflammatory diseases of the upper respiratory tract; March, pp 236-244.

Managing infectious and inflammatory upper airway diseases in dogs; March, pp 245-253.

Managing infectious and inflammatory upper airway diseases in cats; March, pp 255-264.

I

Impellizeri, Joseph A.
Discovering and eliminating primary lung tumors in dogs and cats; December, pp 1012-1024.

J

Jackson, Dawn
Chronic, recurrent dermatophytosis in a Persian cat; March, pp 216-220.

Jewell, Dennis E.
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

K

Kraje, Amy Clare
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Sudden deterioration in a dog receiving immunosuppressive therapy; July, pp 574-581.

L

Lane, India F.
A diagnostic approach to micturition disorders; January, pp 49-57.

Treating urinary incontinence; January, pp 58-65.

Medical treatment of voiding dysfunction in dogs and cats; January, pp 67-73.

When your pet doesn't urinate normally; January, p 74.

Langston, Cathy
Advanced renal therapies: Options when standard treatments are not enough; December, pp 999-1008.

Latra, Samuel V.
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Complications from Cuterebra species larva

AUTHORS continued

removal; November, pp 928-933.

Lerche, Phillip
Choosing the best inhalant anesthetic for small-animal practice; August, pp 664-674.

Lobprise, Heidi B.
Periodontal disease: More than just a dirty mouth; February, pp 161-170.

Lowry, Stephen R.
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

Lunn, Katharine
Nucleated RBCs point to possible Cushing's disease; May, p 379.

M

Mann, F.A.
A traumatic emergency: Handling patients with head injuries; September, pp 788-799.

Mayer, Monique N.
New Canadian facility offers MRI and radiation therapy under one roof; November, pp 917-920.

Mazzaferro, Elisa M.
Practical Matters: The value of esophagostomy tubes in anorectic patients; November, p 925.

McCarthy, Timothy C.
Transitional cell carcinoma; February, p 96.

Resolution of chylothorax in a cat; October, pp 832-833.

Practical Matters: Don't be caught short when performing exploratory surgery; November, p 926.

McIlnay, Tonya
An English bulldog with a red, squinting eye; July, pp 556-566.

Medleau, Linda
Chronic, recurrent dermatophytosis in a Persian cat; March, pp 216-220.

Mickelson, James R.
Mapping genes that cause muscular and neurologic disorders in horses and dogs; March, pp 196-204.

Miller, Matthew W.
Is there a better way to administer heartworm adulticidal therapy? April, pp 310-317.

Miller, Robert M.
Rosie; January, p 82.

Good, old-fashioned mail; February, p 182.

Electronic rage; March, p 274.

Considerate vs. inconsiderate; April, p 358.

European impressions; May, pp 441-442.

A story straight out of the movies; June, p 542.

Dr. Miller bites back; July, p 626.

Waning membership signals declining camaraderie; August, p 718.

Another dirty word? September, p 810.

A livestock tour of Switzerland; October, pp 901-902.

Occupation recollections; November, p 978.

The insidious foxtail; December, p 1054.

Monroe, William E.
Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 1: Blood glucose curves; December, pp 1025-1032.

Monitoring diabetic dogs, Part 2: Fructosamine and glycosylated hemoglobin concentrations; December, pp 1034-1037.

Moon, Paula F.
Anesthetic management for cesarean section in bitches; August, pp 675-696.

Moriello, Karen A.
Important factors in the pathogenesis of feline dermatophytosis; October, pp 845-858.

Practical diagnostic testing for dermatophytosis in cats; October, pp 859-876.

Feline dermatophytosis: Topical and systemic treatment recommendations; October, pp 877-885.

Monitoring treatment and preventing reinfection in cats with dermatophytosis; October, pp 886-891.

Mueller, Ralf S.
Noninflammatory alopecia in dogs; June, pp 518-534.

N

Nestor, Derek D.
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Complications from Cuterebra species larva removal; November, pp 928-933.

Nielssen, Astrid
Managing leptospirosis in dogs; July, pp 586-594.

Diagnosing and treating ehrlichiosis in dogs and cats; July, pp 595-601.

O

Overall, Karen L.
Practical Matters: Thyroid evaluation and behavior problems; April, p 297.

P

Pacchiana, Philip D.
Managing a unilateral TMJ subluxation in a dog; January, pp 36-45.

Panciera, David L.
Practical Matters: Avoiding pitfalls in diagnosing hyperadrenocorticism; April, p 296.

Patterson, E.E.
Mapping genes that cause muscular and neurologic disorders in horses and dogs; March, pp 196-204.

Peak, R. Michael
Dental prophylaxis: Examination, cleaning, and home care; February, pp 148-159.

Caring for your pet's teeth and gums; February, p 172.

Pharr, John W.
New Canadian facility offers MRI and radiation therapy under one roof; November, pp 917-920.

Powell, Cynthia C.
A parrot with unilateral blepharitis; January, pp 12-26. Correction: April, p 288.

An English bulldog with a red, squinting eye; July, pp 556-566.

Pressler, Barrak M.
Managing renal amyloidosis in dogs and cats; April, pp 320-333.

R

Rawlings, Clarence
Rigid endoscopy in small and exotic animals; August, pp 640-643.

Reaugh, H. Fulton
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Recurrent cervical pain and ataxia in a Chihuahua; August, pp 656-662.

Robertson, Sheilah A.
Choosing the best inhalant anesthetic for small-animal practice; August, pp 664-674.

Anesthetic management for cesarean section in bitches; August, pp 675-696.

How do we know if they hurt? Pain assessment in small animals; August, pp 700-709.

Rosendale, Marcy E.
Disulfoton: A deadly threat in pets; June, pp 466-469.

AUTHORS continued

Rossmeisl Jr., John H.
Current principles and applications of D-dimer analysis in small-animal practice; March, pp 224-234.

S

Schulman, Rhonda L.
Insulin and other therapies for diabetes mellitus; April, pp 334-348.

T

Troutman, Mitchell
Challenging Cases in Internal Medicine: Sudden deterioration in a dog receiving immunosuppressive therapy; July, pp 574-581.

Tryon, Kimberly A.
New Canadian facility offers MRI and radiation therapy under one roof; November, pp 917-920.

Tully Jr., Thomas N.
Recognizing and managing Chlamydophila psittaci infection in companion avian species; September, pp 746-757.

Tyler, John W.
Recognizing metronidazole toxicosis in dogs; May, pp 410-418.

V

Vaden, Shelly L.
Managing renal amyloidosis in dogs and cats; April, pp 320-333.

Valberg, Stephanie J.
Mapping genes that cause muscular and neurologic disorders in horses and dogs; March, pp 196-204.

VanVranken, Philip
Editors' Guest: Dear Consumer Reports; July, p 552.

Vermeulen, Jane
Editors' Guest: Tales from a new graduate; April, p 284.

Volmer, Petra A.
Practical Matters: Guidelines for inducing emesis; April, p 294.

Practical Matters: Atropine: Not the universal antidote; April, p 296.

W

Wiggs, Robert Bruce
Dental equipment: Using the right tools to provide the best care for your patients; February, pp 127-144.

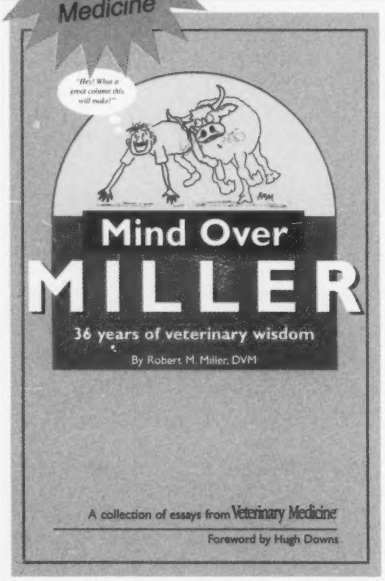
Wright, Kathryn H.
Recognizing metronidazole toxicosis in dogs; May, pp 410-418.

Z

Zicker, Steven C.
Can a fortified food affect the behavioral manifestations of age-related cognitive decline in dogs? May, pp 396-408.

If you'd like to search our archives, check out the 1998 to 2002 Annual Indexes online at www.vetmedpub.com/vm/anindex.html

New from Veterinary Medicine



"Hey! What a great column this will make!"
Mind Over
MILLER
36 years of veterinary wisdom
By Robert M. Miller, DVM
A collection of essays from Veterinary Medicine
Foreword by Hugh Downs

Put your mind over this!

"In reading the educational essays, prepare to find some of them haunting you the rest of your life...for the funny ones, try to be seated in a low chair so you don't have far to go to the floor. And one final warning—don't read any of them while driving."

Hugh Downs, in his foreword to Mind Over-Miller

Don't miss this new collection of Dr. Robert M. Miller's best articles, poems, and cartoons—distilled from over 400 essays penned every month since 1968 in Veterinary Medicine. Whether it's a tongue-in-cheek piece on why advertisers should use veterinarians to sell hand cream, a poem on anal glands, or a more serious discussion on gun control, Dr. Miller never fails to enlighten and entertain.

Order your copy today for only $29.95, plus shipping & handling.

(800) 815-3400

ADVANSTAR COMMUNICATIONS

www.vetmedpub.com

MAG